

Bob Franke joined the Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency Region VII staff in July 1987. He is currently a senior engineer in the Mitigation Division where his responsibilities include program and project management for FEMA's flood hazard mapping program. He is the Region VII lead for the Cooperating Technical Partner Program.