

Mr. Ted Blahnik, PE is a Founding Principal of Williams Creek Consulting and is a registered Professional Engineer in eight states. He has 20 years experience in ecological and environmental consulting focusing on design and construction of natural systems for resource mitigation, stormwater management, wastewater treatment, and CSO abatement. He has applied experience in the current practice of Low Impact Development, Green Infrastructure Best Management Practices and LEED techniques for stormwater management in industrial, commercial, and residential developments along with municipalities. Mr. Blahnik holds a Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering from Georgia Institute of Technology and a Masters of Science from Louisiana State University.